

SPECIAL ISSUE ON PEER COUNSELLING

The January, 1989 issue of the Canadian Journal of Counselling will focus on peer counselling. Persons wishing to submit manuscripts for consideration must send their material to the Editor by October 15, 1988. Several types of articles will be eligible for publication, including program reports or descriptions, evaluations, literature reviews, empirical research, discussion and analysis of issues, and critical reviews of materials and resources.

All submitted material will be subject to normal review procedures, including submission to external referees and editorial screening. Manuscripts in either French or English are encouraged, but authors must submit abstracts in both languages.

Additional funding for this issue comes from
